CCR.R.1: Read closely to determine what the text says explicitly and to make logical inferences from it; cite specific textual evidence when writing or speaking to support conclusions drawn from the text.

RL. 10.1

Cite strong and thorough textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text.

Desired Student Performance

A student should know
(Prerequisite Knowledge)

- How to draw inferences from a text based on his/her ability to read and comprehend.
- How to use textual evidence to support/prove his/her inference because inferences are NOT explicitly stated evidence.
- How to consider personal experience to draw conclusions.
- That details within a text contribute to the key ideas of the text.
- That details within a text provide the basis for analysis and comprehension.

A student should understand
(Conceptual Understanding)

- That authors include critical and extraneous details.
- How to identify not only key ideas, but also the details that contribute to those key ideas in order to thoroughly analyze a text.
- How to infer since authors imply.
- How to, through the process of annotation, interact with a text by:
 - Identifying unfamiliar words
 - Questioning the author’s purpose
 - Predicting what will happen next
 - Identifying potential bias and false information

A student should be able to do
(Evidence of Knowledge)

- Annotate a text while reading.
- Make inferences based on textual evidence.
- Distinguish important facts from “extra” details.
- Draw from personal experience.
- Identify strong evidence to support an inference or claim from a text.
- Cite evidence from a text both verbally and with standard citation format (i.e. MLA, APA, Turabian, etc.).

KEY LANGUAGE/VERBS/TERMS RELATED TO THE STANDARD:

cite, evidence, analysis, inference, detail, annotate, support

CCR.R.2: Determine central ideas or themes of a text and analyze their development; summarize the key supporting details and ideas.

RL. 10.2

Determine the theme(s) or central idea(s) of a text and analyze in detail its development over the course of the text, including how details of a text interact and build on one another to shape and refine the theme(s) or central idea(s); provide an accurate summary of the text based upon this analysis.

Desired Student Performance

A student should know
(Prerequisite Knowledge)

- The theme of a text is the unifying, recurring idea or truth related in a text.
- That key details within a text typically contribute to the overall theme or central idea.
- How to develop an accurate summary.

A student should understand
(Conceptual Understanding)

- The author develops the theme.
- As the author reveals more details in a text, multiple themes or central ideas may emerge.
- The theme or central idea of a text may change over the course of a text as the author develops the plot:
 - Characters
 - Conflict
- An accurate summary will reflect the reader’s interpretation of the theme(s) and must be supported by details from the text.

A student should be able to do
(Evidence of Knowledge)

- Identify the theme based on the details from the text.
- Articulate the theme or central idea of a text.
- Trace the development of the theme or central idea by identifying specific details from the text.
- Compose an accurate summary of a text that includes how the central idea/theme:
 - Emerges
 - Is shaped
 - Is refined by specific details

KEY LANGUAGE/VERBS/TERMS RELATED TO THE STANDARD:

theme, central idea, analyze, detail, development, emerges, refined, précis, objective summary, bias

CCR.R.3: Analyze how and why individuals, events, and ideas develop and interact over the course of a text.

RL. 10.3

Analyze how complex characters (e.g., those with multiple or conflicting motivations) develop over the course of a text, interact with other characters, and advance the plot or develop the theme.

Desired Student Performance

A student should know
(Prerequisite Knowledge)

- That authors use DIRECT and INDIRECT characterization to develop characters over the course of a text.
- That characters within a text can be classified as:
 - Static or dynamic
 - Flat or round
- That characters with different motivations are often classified as:
 - Protagonist
 - Antagonist
- That conflict causes the forward movement of the plot (rising action) and, ultimately, the climax.

A student should understand
(Conceptual Understanding)

- The interaction between characters provides the conflict that fuels a text’s plot.
- That authors intentionally develop some characters more fully than others in order to advance the plot in a certain way (author’s purpose).
- That advances in the plot and/or development of the theme can be traced through the decisions, actions, and dialogue of character(s).

A student should be able to do
(Evidence of Knowledge)

- Identify complex characters in a text.
- Cite evidence in a text that shows the complexity of a character.
- Identify the motivation(s) of characters within a text, and determine when those motivations are conflicting.
- Explain how complex characters contribute to the theme or central idea of the text as a whole.

KEY LANGUAGE/VERBS/TERMS RELATED TO THE STANDARD:

analyze, complex character, motivation, conflict, interact, plot (introduction, rising action, climax, falling action, resolution), theme, direct, indirect, static, dynamic, flat, round, protagonist, antagonist

CCR.R.4: Interpret words and phrases as they are used in a text, including determining technical, connotative, and figurative meanings, and analyze how specific word choices shape meaning or tone.

RL. 10.4

Determine the meaning of words and phrases as they are used in the text, including figurative and connotative meanings; analyze the cumulative impact of specific word choices on meaning and tone (e.g., how the language evokes a sense of time and place; how it sets a formal or informal tone).

Desired Student Performance

A student should know
(Prerequisite Knowledge)

- That words often have multiple meanings (connotation, denotation, figures of speech).
- That figurative language refers to words/phrases that are not intended to be understood literally:
 - Simile
 - Metaphor
 - Personification
 - Hyperbole
- That tone is the overall attitude toward the theme and audience that is implied in a literary text.
- That poetic devices contribute to the tone of a text:
 - Alliteration
 - Assonance
 - Consonance
 - Onomatopoeia

A student should understand
(Conceptual Understanding)

- That authors craft texts by specifically selecting words and phrases that contribute not only to the reader’s understanding, but also to the theme or central idea of the text as a whole.
- That over the course of a text, an author’s word choices can establish:
 - Formal vs informal tone
 - Sense of time and place
 - Potential bias
- That authors intentionally use sound devices (i.e. alliteration, assonance, consonance, etc.), rhyme, rhythm, and repetition to develop tone.
- The cumulative impact of word choice directly relates to the tone and theme of the text.

A student should be able to do
(Evidence of Knowledge)

- Define unfamiliar and/or critical words within a text through context “clues.”
- Translate figurative language into concrete language.
- List multiple meanings of a word or phrase and identify the author’s intended meaning based on connotation.
- Identify the tone of a text.
- Explain how an author’s word choice and/or use of figurative or connotative meaning contribute to the meaning and tone of a specific text.

CCR.R.5: Analyze the structure of texts, including how specific sentences, paragraphs, and larger portions of the text (e.g., a section, chapter, scene, or stanza) relate to each other and the whole.

RL. 10.5

Analyze how an author’s choices concerning how to structure a text, order events within it (e.g., parallel plots), and manipulate time (e.g., pacing, flashbacks) create such effects as mystery, tension, or surprise.

Desired Student Performance

A student should know
(Prerequisite Knowledge)

- A text is divided into structural segments (i.e. stanzas, chapters, scenes, etc.)
- That plot refers to the elemental structure of a text and the progression of events from beginning to end.
 - Introduction/ Exposition
 - Rising Action/ Complications
 - Climax
 - Falling Action
 - Resolution/ Denouement
- The terms mystery, tension, and surprise, as well as the nuances of meaning between them.

A student should understand
(Conceptual Understanding)

- That authors hold ultimate control over the structure of a text (i.e. plot, time, etc.); therefore, an author’s manipulation of structure is intentional.
- That parallel plots can exist within the same text, and those plots often relate to or provide contrast to one another (i.e. the love story between Romeo and Juliet paired with the subplot of the feud between the Montagues and Capulets).
- That manipulation of time contributes to the overall tone and mood of a text:
 - Flashback
 - Flashforward
 - Beginning in medias res
 - Foreshadowing
 - Pacing

A student should be able to do
(Evidence of Knowledge)

- Identify elements of plot within a text.
- Explain the relationship between the main plot and sub-plot(s).
- Identify manipulations of time within a text.
- Analyze how an author’s choices (plot structure, order of events, manipulation of time, etc.) create dramatic effects such as mystery, tension, or surprise.

KEY LANGUAGE/VERBS/TERMS RELATED TO THE STANDARD:

structure, plot (introduction, exposition, rising action, complications, climax, falling action, resolution, denouement), mystery, tension, surprise, flashback, flash-forward, beginning in medias res, foreshadowing, pacing, dramatic effect, manipulation

CCR.R.6: Assess how point of view or purpose shapes the content and style of a text.

RL. 10.6

Analyze a particular point of view or cultural experience reflected in a work of literature from outside the United States, drawing on a wide reading of world literature.

Desired Student Performance

A student should know
(Prerequisite Knowledge)

- An author’s point of view or cultural experience influences his/her treatment of a topic or issue.
- That cultures share common literary traditions (archetypes, foundational documents, written laws, etc.).

A student should understand
(Conceptual Understanding)

- That cultural experience refers to a specific incident or interaction within a culture.
- That many cultures use mythology to explain common experiences:
 - Creation
 - Geography/ topography
 - Weather
 - Plants and animals

A student should be able to do
(Evidence of Knowledge)

- Identify and explain the point of view or cultural experience reflected in a literary text.
- Examine and explain the relationship between two or more pieces of world literature in terms of point of view or cultural experience.

KEY LANGUAGE/VERBS/TERMS RELATED TO THE STANDARD:

point of view, cultural experience, archetype, foundational document, mythology

CCR.R.7: Integrate and evaluate content presented in diverse formats and media, including visually and quantitatively, as well as in words.

RL. 10.7

Analyze the representation of a subject or a key scene in two different artistic mediums, including what is emphasized or absent in each treatment (e.g., Auden’s “Musée des Beaux Arts” and Breughel’s Landscape with the Fall of Icarus).

Desired Student Performance

A student should know
(Prerequisite Knowledge)

- That artistic mediums can include (but are not limited to):
 - Film
 - Drama
 - Drawing
 - Painting
 - Sculpture
 - Song
 - Poetry

A student should understand
(Conceptual Understanding)

- That artists and authors choose what information to include, exclude, and emphasize based on their specific purpose.
- That theme or central idea can be present in all artistic mediums.

A student should be able to do
(Evidence of Knowledge)

- Identify the theme or central idea of a work of art.
- Compare and contrast the treatment of a subject or key scene in two or more artistic representations.
- Explain how the author’s/artist’s emphasis OR exclusion of detail(s) contributes to the overall meaning or theme of the piece.

CCR.R.9: Analyze how two or more texts address similar themes or topics in order to build knowledge or to compare the approaches the authors take.

RL. 10.9

Analyze how an author draws on and transforms source material in a specific work (e.g., how Shakespeare treats a theme or topic from Ovid or the Bible or how a later author draws on a play by Shakespeare).

Desired Student Performance

A student should know
(Prerequisite Knowledge)

- That author’s and artists often draw from source material such as previously written texts, plays, songs, etc., to create something new (allusion, allegory, parody, parable, etc.)

A student should understand
(Conceptual Understanding)

- A primary text is an authentic, first-hand account; conversely, source material refers to a text that is referenced in a later work.
- That authors use techniques such as allusion, allegory, and parody to draw from and transform source material.
 - Allusion is an explicit or implied reference to an external event, person, or text.
 - Allegory is an extended metaphor or symbolic treatment of a complex concept.
 - Parody is a “spoof” or humorous re-interpretation of an event, person, or text.

A student should be able to do
(Evidence of Knowledge)

- Compare and contrast the treatment of a topic or theme in two or more texts/mediums.
- Identify and explain allusions, allegorical elements, parodies, etc. within a text.
- Write an analysis of how an author uses/transforms source material within a specific work.

KEY LANGUAGE/VERBS/TERMS RELATED TO THE STANDARD:

CCR.R.10: Read and comprehend complex literary and informational texts independently and proficiently.

RL.10.10

By the end of Grade 10, read and comprehend literature, including stories, dramas, and poems, in the Grades 9–10 text complexity band proficiently, with scaffolding as needed at the high end of the range.

Desired Student Performance

A student should know
(Prerequisite Knowledge)

- How to recognize in a literary text:
 - Key ideas and details
 - Structural elements
 - Intentional choices made by the author (word choice, figurative/connotative meaning, etc.)

A student should understand
(Conceptual Understanding)

- How to comprehend and analyze:
 - Key ideas and details
 - Structural elements
 - Intentional choices made by the author (word choice, figurative/connotative meaning, etc.)

A student should be able to do
(Evidence of Knowledge)

- Read and demonstrate comprehension of texts of increasing complexity.
- Read and demonstrate comprehension of high-end grade-level appropriate literature with scaffolding as needed.
- Set personal reading goals to self-select and explore texts of different genres and increasing complexity

Determine the central idea(s) of a text and analyze in detail the development over the course of the text, including how details of a text interact and build on one another to shape and refine the central idea(s); provide an accurate summary of the text based upon this analysis.

Desired Student Performance

A student should know
(Prerequisite Knowledge)

- Authors have a purpose for writing a text.
- The central idea (or main idea) of an informational text is the recurring, specific concept on which the text focuses.
- Key details within a text contribute to the central idea(s).

A student should understand
(Conceptual Understanding)

- The writer develops the central idea(s) through supporting details.
- The central idea(s) is the key point that the author is trying to make.
- All the details in the text develop and support the central idea(s) by:
 - Proving it
 - Explaining it
 - Illustrating it
 - Providing more details
- That informational texts often follow predictable patterns or outlines. Reverse outlining may be helpful in determining the central idea and identifying the specific detail that support it.
- An accurate summary is free from bias or personal opinion

A student should be able to do
(Evidence of Knowledge)

- Articulate the central idea of a text.
- Trace the development of the central idea by identifying specific details from the text.
- Compose an accurate summary of a text that includes how the central idea:
 - Emerges
 - Is shaped

CCR.R.3: Analyze how and why individuals, events, and ideas develop and interact over the course of a text.

RI. 10.3

Analyze how the author unfolds an analysis or series of ideas or events, including the order in which the points are made, how they are introduced and developed, and the connections that are drawn between them.

Desired Student Performance

A student should know
(Prerequisite Knowledge)

- That key details contribute to the overall central idea of a text.
- That authors intentionally sequence information to accomplish a specific purpose.
- That within a text, authors create intentional connections between key points through transitions, references, etc.
- That authors use text structures (i.e. cause and effect, problem and solution, procedures, etc.) to achieve the desired goal for writing.

A student should understand
(Conceptual Understanding)

- That authors determine the sequence of information that most effectively accomplishes their purpose, or goal, in writing.
- An author may choose to omit information that does not support or lead to his/her desired conclusion.
- The evidence and/or details provided in a text are directly related to the purpose of the text. For example, a scientific journal requires much more factual, detailed information than a personal diary.

A student should be able to do
(Evidence of Knowledge)

- Outline the analysis or series of ideas or events presented in a text.
- Distinguish between important facts (based on the author's purpose for writing) and extraneous information.
- Identify the organizational structure used in a text, and evaluate how effectively that structure accomplishes the purpose for writing.

CCR.R.4: Interpret words and phrases as they are used in a text, including determining technical, connotative, and figurative meanings, and analyze how specific word choices shape meaning or tone.

RI. 10.4

Determine the meaning of words and phrases as they are used in a text, including figurative, connotative, and technical meanings; analyze the cumulative impact of specific word choices on meaning and tone (e.g., how the language of a court opinion differs from that of a newspaper).

Desired Student Performance

A student should know
(Prerequisite Knowledge)

- That words often have multiple meanings (connotation, denotation, figures of speech).
- That figurative language refers to words/phrases that are not intended to be understood literally:
 - Simile
 - Metaphor
 - Personification
 - Hyperbole
- That technical meaning refers to the words (or jargon) specific to a discipline or skill.
- That tone is the overall attitude toward the theme and audience that is implied in a literary text.

A student should understand
(Conceptual Understanding)

- That authors craft texts by specifically selecting words and phrases that contribute not only to the reader’s understanding, but also to the central idea of the text as a whole.
- That over the course of a text, an author’s word choices can establish:
 - Formal vs informal tone
 - Sense of time and place
 - Potential bias
- That authors of informational texts use specific words and phrases to effectively “target” the intended audience (i.e. using specific, technical words in a textbook).

A student should be able to do
(Evidence of Knowledge)

- Define unfamiliar and/or critical words within a text through context “clues.”
- List multiple meanings of a word or phrase and identify the author’s intended meaning based on textual clues.
- Identify the tone of a text.
- Explain how an author’s word choice and/or use of figurative or connotative meaning contribute cumulatively to the meaning and tone of a specific text.

CCR.R.5: Analyze the structure of texts, including how specific sentences, paragraphs, and larger portions of the text (e.g., a section, chapter, scene, or stanza) relate to each other and the whole.

RI. 10.5

Analyze in detail how an author’s ideas or claims are developed and refined by particular sentences, paragraphs, or larger portions of a text (e.g., a section or chapter).

Desired Student Performance

A student should know
(Prerequisite Knowledge)

- A text is divided into structural segments (i.e. sentence, paragraph, section, etc.)
- An author’s claim is the position he/she takes in regards to a given topic.
- That informational texts can be presented as:
 - Letters
 - Journals and diaries
 - Speeches
 - Essays
 - Procedures

A student should understand
(Conceptual Understanding)

- That authors use specific text structures to organize ideas and claims:
 - Sequential Order
 - Chronological Order
 - Procedural Order
 - Cause and Effect
 - Problem and Solution
 - Spatial Order
 - Order of Importance
 - Description
- The structural segments of a text (i.e. sentences, paragraphs, etc.) develop and refine the larger text structure and the overall aim of the text.

A student should be able to do
(Evidence of Knowledge)

- Identify and explain the structural patterns within a text.
 - Sentence structure
 - Organization patterns
 - Syntax
 - Diction
- Analyze and explain how an author’s ideas or claim are developed and refined by individual sections of the text.

KEY LANGUAGE/VERBS/TERMS RELATED TO THE STANDARD:

CCR.R.6: Assess how point of view or purpose shapes the content and style of a text.

RI. 10.6

Determine an author’s point of view or purpose in a text and analyze how an author uses rhetoric to advance that point of view or purpose.

Desired Student Performance

A student should know
(Prerequisite Knowledge)

- An argument or claim is often backed with reasoned, logical evidence.
- That authors write from a specific point of view with a specific purpose in mind.

A student should understand
(Conceptual Understanding)

- That rhetoric refers to writing or speech that is intentionally persuasive.
- That rhetoric can be reasoned and logical, or it can appeal to emotions (i.e. propaganda techniques).
- That authors may employ rhetorical techniques to advance their point of view:
 - Appeals to emotion
 - Appeals to intelligence
 - Appeals to authority
 - Exaggeration
 - Logical fallacies

A student should be able to do
(Evidence of Knowledge)

- Identify the author’s point of view or purpose in a text.
- Identify and evaluate the author’s use of rhetoric and how that rhetoric advances or detracts from the point of view or purpose.

CCR.R.7: Integrate and evaluate content presented in diverse formats and media, including visually and quantitatively, as well as in words.

RI. 10.7

Analyze various accounts of a subject told in different mediums (e.g., a person’s life story in both print and multimedia), determining which details are emphasized in each account.

Desired Student Performance

A student should know
(Prerequisite Knowledge)

- That literary nonfiction can be presented in various mediums, such as:
 - Text/print
 - Photographs
 - Illustrations
 - Film
 - Audio recording

A student should understand
(Conceptual Understanding)

- That in presenting accounts of the same subject in different medium, writers/producers/etc. make choices as to which details to emphasize, marginalize, or exclude.
- When evaluating which details are emphasized, the reader must carefully consider the purpose for writing/presenting (i.e. to inform, to entertain, to persuade)

A student should be able to do
(Evidence of Knowledge)

- Compare and contrast a subject presented in two or more mediums.
- Identify what information is emphasized, marginalized, or excluded, and explain how those choices contribute to the overall function of the text.
- Analyze print, non-print, and digital text for relevant details that are emphasized in an informational text and that contribute to meaning.

CCR.R.8: Delineate and evaluate the argument and specific claims in a text, including the validity of the reasoning as well as the relevance and sufficiency of the evidence.

RI. 10.8

Delineate and evaluate the argument and specific claims in a text, assessing whether the reasoning is valid and the evidence is relevant and sufficient; identify false statements and fallacious reasoning.

Desired Student Performance

A student should know
(Prerequisite Knowledge)

- An argument is a reasoned, evidence-based position on a debatable topic.
- A claim is a specific detail or piece of evidence provided to support an argument.
- A logical fallacy is an error of reasoning.
- That rhetoric is the art of effective and persuasive use of language.

A student should understand
(Conceptual Understanding)

- An effective argument depends upon valid reasoning and relevant, sufficient evidence.
- That false statements and fallacious reasoning (reasoning contrary to fact) weaken even the most appealing argument.
- That authors use rhetoric (both positive and negative) to further advance an argument.

A student should be able to do
(Evidence of Knowledge)

- Identify the primary argument of a text.
- Trace the specific claims that support the argument.
- Assess the reasoning and evidence provided to support a claim and/or argument.
- Distinguish between valid reasoning and fallacious reasoning.
- Analyze an author’s implicit and explicit assumptions/beliefs about a subject.
- Evaluate the credibility of an author’s argument by analyzing the manipulation of language.

CCR.R.9: Analyze how two or more texts address similar themes or topics in order to build knowledge or to compare the approaches the authors take.

RI. 10.9

Analyze seminal U.S. documents of historical and literary significance (e.g., Washington’s Farewell Address, the Gettysburg Address, Roosevelt’s Four Freedoms speech, King’s “Letter from Birmingham Jail”), including how they address related themes and concepts.

Desired Student Performance

A student should know
(Prerequisite Knowledge)

- That unlike central ideas, themes express broader truths about life and/or human nature that go beyond a specific time, place, and circumstance.
- That influential, historical U.S. documents often deal with similar themes and concepts.

A student should understand
(Conceptual Understanding)

- Although these seminal documents deal with related themes and concepts, the treatment of those themes and concepts depends a great deal on the perspective and purpose of the author.
- How to evaluate seminal historical texts critically, paying particular attention to historical context, potential bias, and author’s purpose.

A student should be able to do
(Evidence of Knowledge)

- Analyze U.S. documents of historical and literary significance in terms of literary merit (diction, syntax, word choice, rhetoric, etc.).
- Evaluate how historically significant documents address related themes and concepts.
- Compare, contrast, and analyze the treatment of themes, concepts, and rhetorical devices in seminal U.S. documents.

Desired Student Performance

A student should know
(Prerequisite Knowledge)

- How to identify in a literary nonfiction text:
 - Key ideas and details
 - Structural elements
 - Intentional choices made by the author (word choice, figurative/connotative meaning, etc.)

A student should understand
(Conceptual Understanding)

- How to comprehend and analyze:
 - Key ideas and details
 - Structural elements
 - Intentional choices made by the author (word choice, figurative/connotative meaning, etc.)

A student should be able to do

CCR.W.1: Write arguments to support claims in an analysis of substantive topics or texts using valid reasoning and relevant and sufficient evidence.

W. 10.1a

Introduce precise claim(s), distinguish the claim(s) from alternate or opposing claims, and create an organization that establishes clear relationships among claim(s), counterclaims, reasons, and evidence.

Desired Student Performance

A student should know
(Prerequisite Knowledge)

- A claim is a specific opinion or viewpoint expressed by a writer.
- A counterclaim is an opinion or viewpoint that is different from that of the writer.
- That reasons and evidence are provided to support a claim.
- That related ideas are grouped to support the author’s purpose.

A student should understand
(Conceptual Understanding)

- An argument is a reasoned, logical way of demonstrating that the writer’s position, belief, or conclusion is valid.
- That arguments are used to:
 - Change the reader’s point of view
 - Bring about some action on the reader’s part
 - Ask the reader to accept the writer’s evaluation of a topic
- A claim takes a specific stance concerning a topic.
- That opposing viewpoints exist for every argument.
- A strong argument acknowledges and disproves counterclaims.
- That organizational structure must reflect the author’s purpose showing a relationship between and among ideas.

A student should be able to do
(Evidence of Knowledge)

- Choose a stance from which to argue and gather information.
- Write precise controlling idea, thesis or claim(s) in response to a specific topic.
- Identify alternate or opposing claims and state those claims within writing.
- Supply reasoned evidence to disprove/discredit opposing claims (counterclaims).
