Lesson Measurable Learning Objectives

Assessment should relate to the performance outcome for goals and objectives. Assessment can be question answer, performance activity, etc.

The student will compare and contrast the roles and responsibilities of workers within the six career paths through group activity.

The students will compare and contrast the training and educational requirements for a variety of careers.

Lesson Formative Assessment (acceptable evidence)

The student will share the results of his/her research by describing what the worker does and by contributing to the class activity.

Lesson Preparation

Essential Questions:

What are the roles and responsibilities of workers from the different career paths? In what way are those roles/responsibilities alike? Different?

What education is needed for workers, who pursue a specified career?

NOTE: The counselor may need to enlist the assistance of a classroom teacher or other adult with this lesson.

Engagement (Hook): "I have a deck of cards with me, but these are not typical playing cards."

| 1. | Pair each student with a partner. Counselor says, "When you and your partner get a card, try to keep the career a secret from the other groups. We will reveal that information later in our activity." | 1. | Students will follow instructions. |
| | Pass out cards – one per pair. The cards may be color-coded to match the various career paths. | | |
| | NOTE: Samples are included with this lesson, but the counselor may tailor this activity to the other resources he/she has available. | | |
| 2. | Give one copy of the Career Paths information to each pair of students for reference. Review the information regarding the career paths. Counselor says, "Talk with your partner and decide which career path goes with your career. Do you have enough information to decide?" | 2. | Students will ask questions as needed. Students will determine whether they have enough information. |
| 3. | Present students with the Career Investigation activity sheet - one per student team. | 3. | Students will summarize what the worker does. They will circle those |
| | Counselor says, "You and your partner are going be detectives. Your job is to find information about the career that you have been given." Give students instructions on how they are to complete the activity sheet. Students may need explanation regarding some of the terms, such as on-the-job training, apprenticeship, trade/technical education, and seasonal employment. | | descriptors that apply to the occupation they are investigating. |
| | Distribute materials to students or have them go to the online resource to begin their investigation. | | |

| 4. Counselor says, "You have been investigating a career. Now we will hear from each of the groups. What is the name of the career? What is the career path? What does the worker do?" | 4. Each student team will report on the information gathered from their investigation. |
| 5. "We have a lot of careers that we have studied. Now we are going to discover how they are alike and how they are different." Designate corners of the room to allow student teams to "vote with their feet." | 5. Students will move to designated areas in response to prompts from the counselor. |
| 6. Counselor says, "Move to if your career does not require a high school diploma." "Move to if your career requires a high school diploma." "Does the career involve on-the-training or apprenticeship? Move to" "Does your career require trade or technical education? Move to" "If your job requires a college degree, move to" Once the groups have sorted | 6. Students will move to the designated areas as the descriptors are called, which correspond to the career that they have investigated. |
| themselves out, ask them to identify the career and compare the number of careers and career paths that are represented. Counselor asks, "Did members of the same career path end up in the same group?" Continue this process for the next three categories. The counselor may break down the larger categories into smaller parts to make the sorting process more manageable. Such as, working in the city compared to working in the country. Counselor asks, "What are some ways that jobs in careers paths can be the same? How are they different? What else did you learn today?" | 7. Students respond. |

Teacher Follow-Up Activities

Teacher will review students' activity sheets and may need to allow time for completion before the next session.
