Enduring Understanding(s):

- A friend is someone we care for and want to spend time with.
- Friends like to do things together and enjoy each other's company.
- Friends may have conflicts that can cause complex feelings. Usually, friends work together to resolve these problems; a possible solution may be to spend time apart.

Essential Question(s):

- How do you deal with and express complex feelings in productive and creative ways?
- How do you maintain your sense of self while compromising and collaborating when necessary?

Third Read

Children will:

- chime in and read the story with the teacher
- practice saying and using story-related vocabulary words
- recall main events and characters in the story

As you read, slow down in some places to invite children to chime in. If children have difficulty recalling, scaffold by saying the first sound of a word or the first word in a phrase.

Discussion Question(s):

- How is the gathering of friends in The Little Red Hen (Makes a Pizza) the same as or different from the gathering of friends at Jennifer Giraffe's house?
- Jennifer Giraffe didn't recognize Dandelion. Why didn't she have trouble recognizing her other guests?

Fourth Read

Children will:

- act out one or more scenes from the story
- explore character motivations and emotions
- recall main events from the story

With children, choose one scene to act out. Assign roles to children or use a structure to ask for volunteers. As you read the corresponding pages from the story, children act out the scene and recite any dialogue.

Discussion Question(s):

- Dandelion was disappointed that Jennifer Giraffe did not recognize him. How was Dandelion's disappointment similar to or different from Peter's disappointment in A Letter to Amy?
- What could Dandelion have done to convince Jennifer Giraffe that he was really Dandelion?
