Why do you think Gilberto's balloon blew all the way up in a tree, but Amy's letter dropped back to the ground? Guide children to understand that a letter is heavier than a balloon, and that the balloon also got stuck in the tree.

Third Read

Children will:

- chime in and read the story with the teacher
- practice saying and using story-related vocabulary words
- recall main events and characters in the story

As you read, slow down in some places to invite children to chime in. If children have difficulty recalling, scaffold by saying the first sound of a word or the first word in a phrase.

Discussion Question(s):

- What are some things you think Gilberto liked best about playing with the wind?
- What are some things you think Gilberto disliked about playing with the wind?

Fourth Read

Children will:

- act out one or more scenes from the story
- explore character motivations and emotions
- recall main events from the story

With children, choose one scene to act out. Assign roles to children or use a structure to ask for volunteers. As you read the corresponding pages from the story, children act out the scene and recite any dialogue.

Discussion Question(s):

- Gilberto seems to be treating the wind like it's his friend. People can learn how to be better friends - do you think the wind can learn how to be a better friend?
