

BIGGER!

BOOK OF CHILDHOOD STAGES

Once, I was very small.
I was a baby.

I ate
bigger
meals and
I learned
to feed
myself.

I needed bigger clothes and I learned how to dress myself.

My muscles got bigger and stronger, and I learned how to ride a tricycle.

Mommy and Daddy
called me their “little boy,” but I didn’t mind. I knew I was getting bigger
every day.

I did big jobs like
sweeping the floor.

I went to big kid school and learned how to play with my friends.

I am learning to read and write.

My daddy
used a ruler
to draw a line
on the wall to
see how tall
I was getting.
"You are such a big boy!" he
would say.
And I knew it
was true.

When I got bigger, I played on a
baseball
team with big kids.

I like getting bigger!

My world keeps getting bigger, and so do my hopes, dreams, and ideas.
