

Post #	Image	Post Info
1 June 1		Our children work hard during the school year, and they are learning a lot! Despite that work, children can lose what they learn over the summer. When that happens, they come back to school behind. We can prevent this from happening by encouraging our children to read over Summer Break. #summerlearning
2 June 8		We have BIG Dreams for Our Children! Did you know reading during school breaks helps children do well in school and grow into successful adults? #summerlearning
3 June 15		Summer reading keeps children from falling behind. Try this: Ask your child to keep a list of books you read together or they read over the summer and write three sentences about each book — <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. What is the book about?</li> <li>2. Who was their favorite character?</li> <li>3. Would you recommend it to a friend? Why or why not?</li> </ol> #summerlearning

Post #	Image	Post Info
4 June 22		Did you know that reading regularly with children improves their language development and school readiness? Ask your child who is their favorite athlete and to find 10 facts about him/her. Discuss how athletes become really good at their sport? Talk about it. Did they mention practice? That's how you improve reading and writing too! #summerlearning
5 June 29		It's Summer Learning Week! Let's Celebrate... We're celebrating Summer Learning Week with a whole lot of learning fun! Our children work hard during the school year, and they are learning a lot! Despite that work, they can lose what they learn during breaks. When that happens, they come back to school behind. We want to help children maintain their learning over the summer, so they will be ready to learn what's next in school! That's why we're having a special week! When your child gets home from Summer Learning Week, ask them about it and then read a book with them. #summerlearning

Post #	Image	Post Info
6 July 6		Read, Read, Read! The more parents read to children, the more children enjoy reading. Ask your child questions about what he or she is reading. #summerlearning
7 July 13		Did you know that what children learn from listening and talking helps them learn to read and write? #summerlearning

Post #	Image	Post Info
8 July 20		Did you know that young children can learn new vocabulary from technology when parents are sitting next to them? Try this: When we think about summer, images of sunshine and heat pop into our heads. Ask your child to check the weather online, on TV or in the newspaper. Then discuss what clothes they would wear that day. If it is raining, ask your child to look outside and think about what kind of clothes and shoes are best for rain. If you go out on a chilly night, step outside before you leave and talk about what your child could wear to be warm. #summerlearning
9 July 27		Reading on the Go! Children that are regularly read to develop larger vocabularies and learn to read more easily. Try this! Make your family's shopping list with your child. Ask your child to group items by category. Your child can check the items off the list as you purchase them. Talk with children about what you'll do with each item. #summerlearning

Post #	Image	Post Info
10 August 3		School's Almost Here and Your Children Are Ready! We all have big dreams for our children. We can prevent our children from losing what they learned in school over winter, spring and summer breaks. This will help students be ready to learn what's next in school. #summerlearning