Lesson Measurable Objectives:
The student will list at least three reasons jobs and workers are important in the community.

Lesson Formative Assessment (acceptable evidence):
Assessment should relate to the performance outcome for goals and objectives.
Assessment can be question answer, performance activity, etc.
Work Sample: Each student will write a friendly letter to a community worker expressing appreciation for the work they do and their importance to the community.

Lesson Preparation

Essential Questions:
What would our community look like if there were no people to do the jobs?

Engagement (Hook):
Show the class two contrasting pictures. One picture shows a polluted street and a clean street. Ask the students if they can name the community worker that is not doing his/her job well.
Procedures

<tr>
<td>1. After the “hook,” the counselor instructs students to generate a list of important jobs in their community. Counselor records answers.</td>
<td>1. Students list jobs.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Counselor facilitates a discussion on the importance of each job (listed) to the community. The counselor erases one job and discusses what would happen if this job didn’t exist in the community.</td>
<td>2. Students offer ideas.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Counselor facilitates a discussion of why it is important that all workers know how valuable their work is to the community.</td>
<td>3. Students participate in discussion.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. The counselor reviews the elements of friendly letters. Students write a thank you letter to one of the workers in the job list. The letter explains why the job is so important to the community. The counselor may need to lead a discussion about what words of appreciation might be included in a thank you letter. (See Thank You for Helping our Community Activity Sheet.)</td>
<td>4. Students choose a worker/job and write a thank you letter.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5. The counselor instructs students on how to mail the letter. The counselor has a phone book in the room for students to look up addresses. An example of how to complete an envelope is available to the students. Counselor arranges for cost of postage and mailing letters.</td>
<td>5. Students address envelopes.</td>
</tr>

Teacher Follow-Up Activities

If community workers respond to thank you letters, the teacher will share letters with the class. This would be a good time to invite a postal carrier to talk with students about his or her job.
Thank You for Helping Our Community!

Thumbs Up to You
